BASEBALL NOTES

Page 2:
The teams featured in this page are parodies of real life Japanese baseball teams.

Shaking Carp (Doyou Carp) are a parody of the Hiroshima Toyou Carp (lit. Hiroshima East Carp).
Lower Half Tigers (Kahanshin Tigers) are a parody of the Hanshin Tigers (Hanshin the name of the company which owns the team).

These two teams actually had a match in a 2016 league and the Toyou Carp beat the Tigers and eventually won the league, receiving their first title in 25 years.

Regarding the "A class" thing, basically in Japan there are two main professional baseball leagues (called "classes"). The A class is the higher league and the B class is the lower league.
